Peter slips out of the house so quiet and sly,
 and goes beyond the garden gate beneath the sky.
 The violins that join him as they play,
 bring cheerful melodies to lead his way...

In rhymes and with music – this is how children come to know, the world-famous musical fairy tale »Peter und der Wolf« in a brand-new show.

The Four Seasons

Marko Simsa has been staging concerts and theatre productions for children for 25 years, those were presented at the Wiener Konzerthaus and the Salzburger Festspiele. His books have been translated into twelve languages and have received several awards.

Birgit Antoni studied graphic design, typography and book design in Wien. She illustrates board books, picture books and early readers for various publishers.

- The musical classic, newly redesigned and enhanced with a foil

Through the year with Lisa, her brother Viktor and the dog Vivaldi! Lisa's mother shows them her favorite piece — Antonio Vivaldi's concerto "The Four Seasons". With the sounds of the instruments a whole year passes: birdsong, summer heat, harvest dance and winter chill are brought to life in text, illustration and orchestral sound. Musical picture-book expert Marko Simsa shows which natural events children can rediscover in the music and offers a playful introduction to classical music.

For immersing and joining in: Vivaldi's world-famous violin concerto for children!

The Great Giraffe Jumble

Lädt sie der Hirsch zum Spielen ein, ruft Gundula energisch: »Nein!«
Für schwerbeladene Giraffen ist Spielen einfach nicht zu schaffen.

Lisa Tyukodi-Tengler has Hungarian roots and was born in 1988 in Nürnberg. She studied Multimedia and Communication and works as a strategic designer in the digital industry. The birth of her son in 2020 inspired her to start writing stories and songs again.

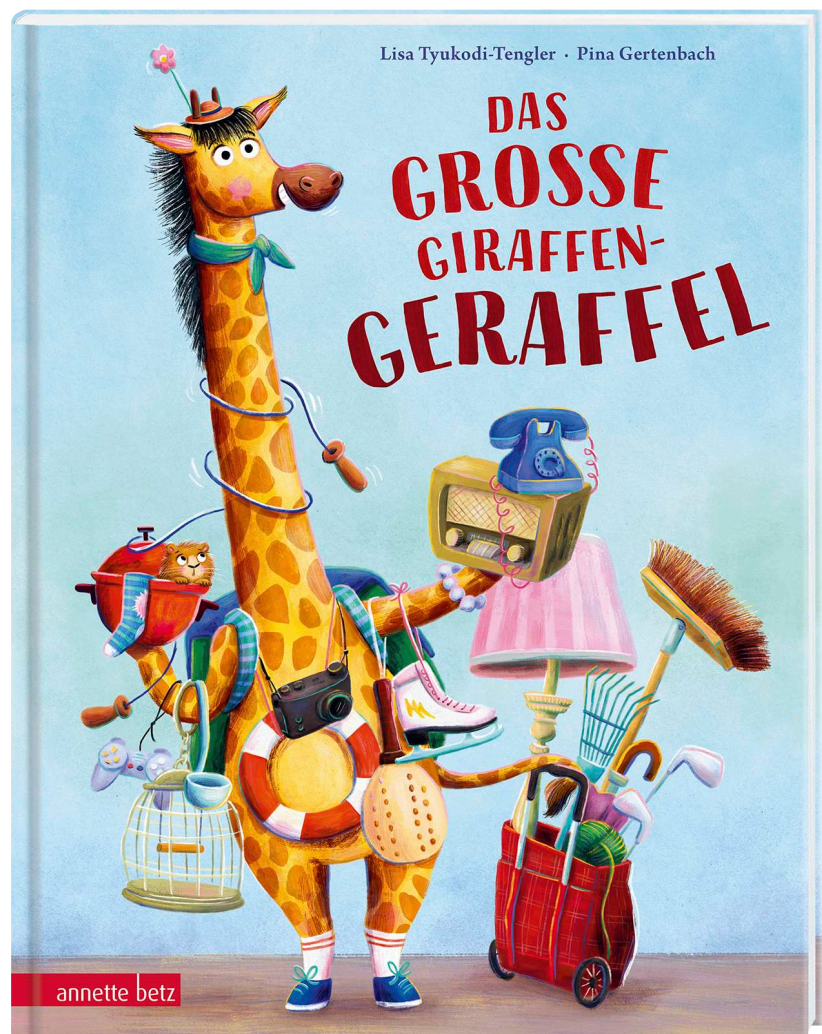

Pina Gertenbach has worked for publishers and agencies as a freelance illustrator and graphic designer after her studies. She lives in Berlin, where she brings many different animals and worlds to life from her desk. (Her favourite subjects to draw are frogs, dogs, crocodiles and even scruffy giraffes.)

- A charming rhymed animal story that will make you smile
- Collecting — an important theme in children's everyday life
- This story shows that friendship means more than material possessions

The giraffe Gundula has a great passion: she loves to collect. And she really collects everything. Soon she has piled up so many things that her friends no longer find a place in her house or in her life. Gundula is completely absorbed in collecting. But then her friend, the Panda, needs her help: he is stuck in a tree and only Gundula, with her long neck, can reach him. Through this rescue, Gundula finally realises that true friendship is the greatest treasure of all.

A lovingly wild story about what really matters in life.

Mimi is different from the other tooth fairies. She is easily distracted and often forgets her task. When a rather strange assignment arrives in the land of the tooth fairies one day, Mimi sees her chance to show what she can do. Determined not to be led off course this time, Mimi lands in the dark forest. There the mythical creatures — and even Giant Klaus — delight in her tooth-fairy magic. The other tooth fairies are astonished, for they have never heard of the dark forest or giant teeth!

A warm-hearted tale about wobbly teeth and fairy magic.

Dark is the forest and quiet... And then this: the woodland animals are awakened at night by a loud bang! Led by Inspector Fox, they set off to search for the source of the racket. The animals follow all kinds of hot leads that the ever-important forest inspector Fox invents — but they can't find the origin of the noise. Until, right in the middle of the bridge over a rocky gorge, it rumbles and roars in belly — and then bangs once more. The loud surprise solves the case: it was a Fox-Fart, echoing from the rocks far into the forest...

A brilliantly rhymed, humorous detective story.

A Knight Named Rost — Tin and Sulphur

»Willkommen im Wirtshaus Zum Ritter«, begrüßte sie der Wirt. »Was darf ich Ihnen Leckeren anbieten?«
 »Für mich bitte einen Knallerbsen-Eintopf nach Ritterart«, erklärte der Ritter. »Knallerbsen-Eintopf ist am leckersten.«
 »Ist aber mit Vorsicht zu genießen«, warnte der Wirt.
 »Ich weiß«, sagte der Ritter. »Trotzdem möchte ich einen haben. Schließlich sind wir extra deswegen hergekommen.«
 »Ich hätte lieber einen schwefeligen Schwefelpuddings«, sagte Koks.
 »Und ich einen kleinen Salat«, bat Bö.
 »Haben wir leider nicht«, sagte der Wirt. »Ich hätte allerdings Knallerbsenpudding und Knallerbsensalat im Angebot.«
 »Wir überlegen noch«, sagte Bö.
 Das Wirtshaus Zum Ritter war – wen wundert's? – vor allem bei Rittern überaus beliebt. Auch heute waren einige anwesend: Ritter Zieselbert von Zinne, Ritter Ralf von Regenrinne, Ritter Eisenfaust von Schiene und Junker Kettenhemdgardine. Alle hatten sie einen Teller Knallerbsen-Eintopf vor sich stehen und aßen mit Appetit.
 »Ich freue mich schon auf meinen eigenen Teller«, sagte der Ritter Rost vergnügt.
 Da trug ihn der Wirt auch schon herbei. »Mit Vorsicht zu genießen!«
 »Das haben Sie schon mal gesagt.« Der Ritter Rost hob den Löffel und betrachtete genüsslich sein Essen. »Guckt mal,

After studying design at FH Münster, she now works as a freelance illustrator, dedicating herself to what she loves most: creating stories and bringing them to life through illustrations, preferably filled with very special characters.

When Kalle goes to the park to play, the other dogs greet him enthusiastically: they bump into him, jump on him, and lick his face. Kalle is happy to see them too, but something doesn't feel right. Then it hits him: he doesn't always want to be touched and petted just because he's small and fluffy. So starting tomorrow, Kalle decides to be prickly like the cactus on his windowsill. The others are puzzled until Kalle finally speaks up and find a solution together.

A heartwarming story featuring lovable dog characters about respecting individual boundaries and needs.

Greetings from Hell!

Hardcover
64 pages | 15 × 20,5 cm
7+

Louisa Söllner studied Philosophy and Comparative Literature at universities in Freiburg, Göttingen, Perugia, Munich, and Cambridge. Along the way, she developed a passion for children's books especially those that whisk readers away to fantastical worlds.

Lena Winkel, originally wanted to become a Pokémon inventor. So she studied Illustration in Hamburg and Paris – and went completely off track! Now she creates children's books and comics, and naturally loves drawing non-human animals best of all.

Finn is writing postcards during his vacation in Tuscany. Out of sheer boredom, he leaves one on the grave of Flavio, a boy his own age who died 200 years ago. And Flavio writes back! From Hell, no less! But when Finn speaks disparagingly of Raffaella – a girl he occasionally meets at the cemetery – Flavio's tone suddenly turns cold and curt. Could it be that these letters aren't from Flavio in Hell at all, but from... Raffaella?

A wonderfully offbeat early-reader adventure with a surprising twist!

Markus Orth's was born in 1969 in Viersen and now lives in Karlsruhe. He has published 12 books for adults and was awarded with Prix Théâtre 13, Telekom-Austria-Preis and many others. His children's books were initially created for his own kids — and have grown along with them.

Antje Hagemann's head is filled with colors and funny characters. After studying graphic design in Münster, she initially worked for ten years at various animation studios. Since 2004, she has worked successfully as a freelance illustrator and lives with her family in Berlin.

Esmeralda has a flea in her ear! The flea whispers to her: "Hum, Esmeralda, hum!" But her humming creates chaos at school and lands her in serious trouble. Terrified, the flea retreats deep into Esmeralda's mind. And Esmeralda? Her problems vanish and her grades suddenly improve, yet she feels hollow and isolated. It's only when the flea returns — bringing a charming earworm companion along — that she can hum and sing once more: a magical melody that captivates everyone around her.

A testament to the power of music, art, and celebrating what makes us different!

»Hände hoch und Hosen runter!«

Mit gestrecktem Daumen und Zeigefinger zielte Albert auf den Rücken seiner großen Schwester, so, als hielte er eine Pistole in der Hand.

»Wie soll das denn gehen?«, fragte Matti vom Sessel herüber, ohne von seinem Drachenreiter-Comic aufzublicken. »Mit erhobenen Händen kriegt man die Hose doch gar nicht runter!«

Albert ließ die Hand sinken und grübelte kurz.

»Dann eben andersherum«, entschied er schließlich und richtete seinen Finger wieder auf seine Schwester. »Sonst peng!«

Lilja verdrehte die Augen.

»Lass das sein, Albert. Wir haben jetzt keine Zeit für solche Spiele. Wir müssen noch packen.«

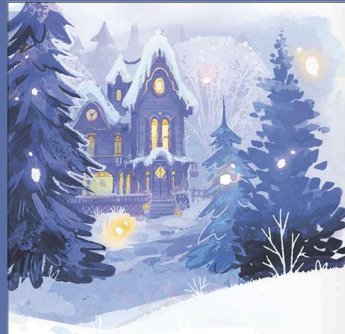

»Aber packen ist soooo langweilig«, quengelte Albert und ließ sich mit einer Schnute auf den Boden plumpsen.

»Da hat er recht!«, pflichtete Matti seinem kleinen Bruder bei und schwang lässig die Beine über die Sessellehne.

»Meint ihr vielleicht, ich habe Lust dazu?«, fragte Lilja gereizt. »Es ist ja nicht meine Schuld, dass wir drei die Winterferien bei Tante Stella verbringen müssen!« Wütend pfefferte sie einen Pullover in ihren Koffer, nur um ihn kurz darauf wieder herauszureißen.

»Ich wäre auch lieber mit Louisa in die Berge gefahren!«, grummelte sie vor sich hin. In den letzten Tagen hatte es so viel geschneit wie schon seit Jahren nicht mehr. Das ideale Wetter für einen Skiurlaub.

Wenige Minuten später endete die Fahrt plötzlich, mitten im Wald. Vor ihnen ragte eine Holzvilla mit kleinen, windschiefen Ecktürmchen zwischen den Bäumen auf. Sie war in einem dunklen Lilaton gestrichen. Die Farbe blätterte an einigen Stellen bereits ab.

Das spitze Dach war von einer watteweissen Schneeschicht bedeckt und aus dem Schornstein stiegen Rauchwolken in den dunklen Himmel.

Fröstelnd schälten sich die Kinder aus dem Auto und sahen sich um. Nie hätte Lilja eine Pension so tief und versteckt im Wald erwartet.

Das Haus machte einen altmodischen und irgendwie verwunschenen Eindruck. Die verwitterte Holztreppe hoch zur Eingangstür wurde zu beiden Seiten von kunstvoll geschnitzten Kürbislaternen beleuchtet. Auch in den Bäumen rings um die Villa hingen Laternen. Sie waren umgeben von kleinen, bunten Lichtpunkten, die wie durch Zauberhand um sie herumschwirrten.

Das wolltest du doch so gerne«, sagte Mama-Zubari. »Zu Hause ist nur alles Baustelle. Du weißt doch, das neue Dach.« Leonie schüttelte immer wieder den Kopf.

Nein. Nein. Nein.
Nicht ohne euch.

Nach dem, was ich hinter der Tür gesehen hatte, war ich der gleichen Meinung. Es war besser, vom Meer wegzubleiben. Daher redete ich los:

Wir sollten alle nicht ans Meer fahren. Viel zu gefährlich. Es gibt Quallen, Haie, Seeigel, Stachelrochen und Steinfische. Das sind die giftigsten Fische der Welt.

An Land sind sicher Schlangen, Skorpione und Killerameisen.

Hardcover
 256 pages | 14,8 × 21 cm
 11+

Julian, Kiano, Aiko and Lani have been chosen. They are the heroes of the island of Elenum, destined to protect the world from evil. By their side are their spirit animals: Askan the husky, Timur the dragon, Azul the falcon and Flip the dolphin. But when Elenum sinks beneath the sea and the Anti-Heroes escape, a shocking truth is revealed: Julian's best friend Milo is one of them. As heroes and Anti-Heroes collide, Fyrus senses his chance to return and Caleb is forced to face his mother once again, Lani fights for Milo's soul – against dark magic, doubt and a race against time...

The downfall is imminent: In Volume 4, the adventure becomes darker, more dynamic and more magical than ever before!

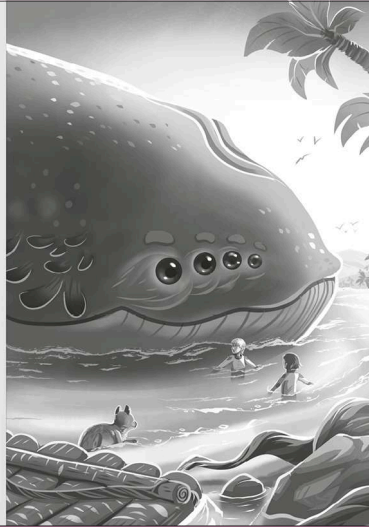

Earth 13

Die Ringfrüchte in meinem Magen legen sich zur Ruhe, meine Augen gewöhnen sich ans Licht. Gwendolin, Óscar, seine Eltern, Koaru – alle sind da. Auch das Floß. Wir schwimmen in leicht purpurnem Wasser, über uns ist blauer Himmel, um das Wasser rum sind Sand, Bäume, Felsen. Wir sind genau zwischen den Inseln! Und hinter uns ist die Kreatur, von der ich geglaubt habe, dass sie uns fressen will.

Aber statt in ein aufgerissenes Maul, schaue ich jetzt in kugelige, sanfte Augen. Es sind vier und eigentlich sind sie groß wie Fußbälle, aber auf diesem gewaltigen Schädel sehen sie winzig aus. Oberhalb der Augen sind Spalten in der Kopfhaut, aus denen Wasser und zischende Luft kommt. Inhalieren will ich sie sicher nicht, aber abgesehen von seinem Mundgeruch kann ich nichts Schlechtes mehr über diesen Meerriesen sagen. Denn inzwischen glaube ich, dass er nie vorhatte, uns zu fressen.

Du wolltest uns aus dem Kanal bringen, stimmt's?, spreche ich in Gedanken mit ihm. Deshalb hast du deinen Mund aufgesperrt, uns eingesaugt und hier wieder ausgespuckt. Richtig?

Levi and Gwendolin have crash-landed on the alien planet Earth 13 with a small group of survivors. Searching for food and other stranded explorers – especially clues about Gwendolin's missing parents – they venture into the planet's vast purple ocean. There, they discover mysterious currents, colossal sea creatures and an abandoned escape pod! Through radio transmissions, they make contact with other missing survivors lost in the middle of the ocean. Suddenly, it is up to Levi and Gwendolin to carry out a daring rescue mission. And with every decision they make, the danger grows...

Thrilling and fast-paced: The secrets of the universe are calling!

Jojo, Eleven and a Quarter

I hear stupid jokes about my name at least ten times a day. Most of the time, people say things like: "Hey, Yo-Yo!" Sometimes they say: "Oh, Yo-Yo" When someone thinks they're being extra funny, they greet me with: "Hello-Yo!" Or they ask me if I want to play with yo-yos, or if I want to perform with my banjo-yo. That last one is especially popular because my name is pronounced like "Djo-yo" – the first J sounds like the J in "jeans." But honestly, all these jokes about my name drive me crazy.

Jojo, Eleven and a Quarter

Hardcover
 320 pages | 14,8 × 21 cm
 10+

Jojo is eleven and a quarter years old and suddenly finds himself caught between childhood and adolescence. His usual quick wit disappears whenever he is around his classmate Agatha, and he cannot stop thinking about her. But Jojo is also dealing with other challenges: the death of his grandmother and the fate of his art teacher, Mr Kavka, who suffers a stroke. Between theatre rehearsals, school and the occasional fight, he is ultimately occupied with one central question: who he is and where he belongs in the world.

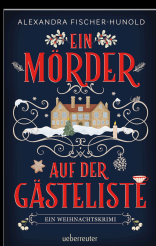

A humorous and literary children's novel about growing up.

On Pollock Island, Teddy's family estate has been gracefully falling into disrepair in the finest English tradition for centuries until Guy Cashner, an American tech billionaire, buys the manor and has it renovated according to his own vision. When the whole family gathers there at Christmas to admire the transformation, it is not only old Lady Mary who is left speechless. It is unimaginable what this man has done to their home. That very evening, Mr Cashner is found lifeless: murdered! But very little is as it seems. And as a storm cuts the island off from the outside world, 16-year-old Teddy sets out to find the killer...

Atmospheric cosy crime — the perfect Christmas read!

Little Deadly Secrets — Best Friends Until Death

Paperback with flaps
352 pages | 13,5 × 21,5 cm
14+

Elena Rieding was born in 1999 and lives in Berlin. She studied psychology, which has given her a unique perspective on interpersonal relationships and helps her create vivid, believable characters.

After a party, 18-year-old Jenna disappears without a trace. Connor, Matteo and Alena, once her closest friends, set out to uncover what happened. But all three are hiding secrets that make them suspects themselves. The deeper they delve into the events of that night, the more betrayal, abuse of power and cowardly choices come to light – along with the question of how much blame a friendship can withstand.

Breathless and gripping — a thrilling debut by a young author!
